

Rubén Comas-Forgas

He is a professor at the University of the Balearic Islands (Spain). His research focuses on academic and research integrity, academic dishonesty, scientific communication, and the impact of artificial intelligence on education. He currently coordinates the national project AI-FIP: Academic Integrity in Initial Teacher Education (<https://ia-fip.org/>), the European Erasmus+ AI-Upskilled project (<https://ai-upskilled.eu/>), and the Ibero-American Research Network on Academic Integrity (Red-IA) (<https://red-ia.org/>). He has carried out research, teaching, and academic collaboration activities at universities across Europe, Latin America, and Asia.